About the course

- The Certificate III in Screen and Media is a nationally accredited qualification for students who wish to be part of the rapidly growing Multimedia Industry.
- Through this course you will gain knowledge and skills in a wide range of interest areas, such as: It applies to work in interactive digital media, film and television, radio, lighting and sound, content creation and technical broadcasting environments.
- It is a unique blend of Art and IT, and will appeal to students who want to try their hand at various forms of art digital, or turn their technical expertise into wonderful digital works of art.
- All VET qualifications are nationally recognised - by both employers and industries and further education providers (like TAFE or private training organisations).

Pre-requisites:

There are no prerequisite subjects, but an interest in the creative arts, multimedia and animation is essential.
